

Australasian College for Emergency Medicine

Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander and Māori Health Research Award 2022

ACEM Foundation

This grant is open to ACEM Fellows and trainees who have published a research paper or conference presentation to be most significant in the field of emergency medicine as it relates to Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander or Māori health. The authored article is to be within its first year of publication and published during the immediately preceding financial year (1 July to 30 June), or presented at a conference during the immediately preceding financial year (1 July to 30 June).

Each application must be accompanied by a copy of the article or conference presentation.

The award may be made to the author or presenter of research which, in the opinion of the ACEM Foundation, makes a significant contribution to emergency medicine as it relates to Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander or Māori health.

1. Applicant

---

Full Name

Membership No.

Telephone

Email

Address

2. Eligibility

---

I am an: ACEM Fellow of good standing with the College

I am an: ACEM Trainee of good standing with the College

Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander and Māori Health Research Award 2022

ACEM Foundation

3. Submission

---

I/We, the [Fellow/s] [Trainee/s] listed below, submit the following paper for consideration of the Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander and Māori Health Research Award. It is understood that, if successful, it is the paper that receives the award and that the lead author (as stated below) will be invited to accept the award at an ACEM College Ceremony.

Title of Paper

Journal Title

Volume/Date of Publication

Name of Lead Author

4. Name and signature of all authors

---

Name

Signature

Name

Signature

Name

Signature

Name

Signature

5. Signature and Acknowledgement

---

Should I be awarded the Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander and Māori Health Research Award, I agree that ACEM and the ACEM Foundation may use my report, or extracts from my report, for the purposes of publication in ACEM Foundation communications and other promotional material.

Signature of Applicant

Date

Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander and Māori Health Research Award 2022

ACEM Foundation

6. Submission Process

---

Applications may be made during the time that applications are open as detailed on the ACEM Website and ACEM Bulletin. No late applications will be accepted.

Applications will be reviewed by the Indigenous Health Committee and the ACEM Foundation Committee. Final approval will be sought from the ACEM Board and awardees will be notified by email.

Please submit nominations by email to foundation@acem.org.au